

Tennessee Air National Guard, Nashville, TN

The project consisted of demolition of the existing mechanical units all supporting duct work and electrical wiring. Then we installed new environmental control units, ran new electrical conduit and motor control systems. Also as a part of the project we removed and replaced Flexhaust systems used for removal of jet fuel from fuel tanks of C-130 planes.

